Re: E-paper Volume 2

To my surprise there were only 8 exchange students. 4 of them from Germany, 1 Canadian, 1 French and 1 Swedish. Besides Julia from Canada the rest didn't have any work experience and again it proves how business schools badly coordinate exchange between students, not distinguishing Master in Business Administration (no experience required) from MBA (for people with at least 2 working experience prior joining).

We had a nice introduction day where we go to know the history of INCAE and all important members of the school administration. We were introduced to Alumni Network, Career Service and all academic procedure. This was very refreshing as the school really pay attention to career development of the students and besides employee branding, counseling they invite many companies to head hunt students. In addition Alumni Network is very vibrant and alumni provide great input to the job placements and experience sharing. Thanks to location in Latin America, these are people from all over the region, which makes the job market, network very wide.

Next Saturday was the fresh man party in the nearest bar. Over 150 people crowded drinking beer and talking about the summer break. Fresh man were invited on the stage with their houses placement and to introduce themselves by: Name, Country and... marital status. When student said SOLTERO (single) the godfather (2nd year buddy of the freshman) had to dance a sexy dance with adept.

Exchange students with their buddies.
